[THIS IS AN EXTERNAL EMAIL]

Dear Sirs,

I wish to object in the strongest possible terms to the proposed development of an Anaerobic Digester as per the above application number.

The proposed location is wholly inappropriate, right next to the town of Haverhill.

The associated risks of increased HGV movements, the inevitable release of both greenhouse and other noxious gasses and the threat to life from accidental detonation and fire (ref very recent incident in Oxfordshire) make this proposal completely undesirable to the residents and council tax payers of Haverhill.

Thurlow Estate is a large agricultural land holding covering many acres in Suffolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire, most of it not next to a town.

I suggest the estate would easily be able to identify a more appropriate location that will not blight the lives of thousands of people, if they feel they have to proceed with this somewhat dubious development and its undoubtedly very ambiguous climate benefits.

Yours faithfully

David Kay
